Common Impact Indicators in Extension Community Development Programming

Tim Borich, Iowa State University
Scott Chazdon, University of Minnesota
Mary Simon Leuci, University of Missouri
Scott Loveridge, North Central Regional Center for Rural Development
Kathy Tweeten, North Dakota State University

About the webinar:

Increasingly, the public and policy makers are asking for hard data on impacts of all publicly-funded activities. This webinar will review how North Central Extension Community Development program leaders responded to the new policy environment, how the approach benefits the system, and how it is being implemented. The discussion will include an overview of common indicators adopted by the region and how they are defined. Examples from Missouri, Iowa, and North Dakota and other states will illustrate how states can go about implementing the data collection. There will be time for questions and answers.

The session is free and open to Extension professionals from anywhere in the U.S.

To access the session go to <http://connect.msu.edu/ncrcrd>, “enter as a guest” is by default already chosen. Type your name into the text box provided, and click on “Enter Room”. You are now in the meeting room for the webinar.
